CALIFORNIA WATER FIX

The San Francisco Bay Delta, California's largest supply of clean water, is dependent on 50-year-old levees. These levees are extremely vulnerable, putting much of the state's fresh water supply at risk from saltwater contamination. The CA Water Fix will add new points of diversion in the north Delta, above the levees. The State released the project's Final EIR (FEIR) in mid-December. Come learn more about the state's plans, the FEIR and how the Water Fix addresses environmental issues, and what this means for Southern California.

Special Guest: Stephen Arakawa, Metropolitan Water District

L.A. RIVER REVITALIZATION UPDATE

Hear an update on the revitalization of the Los Angeles River and how the City is seeking to create a sustainable living and working environment along the River. The City has already embarked on programs to open the River and create a safe environment with parks, trails and recreation; environmental restoration; riverfront living and commerce; and encourage economic development and tourism. Find out what's next and how City plans will affect Downtown and neighboring areas.

Special Guest: Michael Affeldt, LARiverWorks, Office of Mayor Eric Garcetti
